Course Description

This course introduces the theoretical framework for analyzing the economic behavior of individuals.

You are responsible for purchasing and registering your clicker by June 6th. Information on how to register clickers is available at <http://www.colorado.edu/oit/tutorial/cuclickers-iclicker-remote-registration>. Please note that using someone else's clicker for them is a violation of the university honor code, and is considered cheating. If you plan to be absent, do not ask someone to use your clicker for you. I will report all violations to the Honor Code Council.

Religious Observances: Campus policy regarding religious observances requires that faculty make every effort to reasonably and fairly deal with all students who, because of religious obligations, have conflicts with scheduled exams, assignments or required attendance. In this class, please send me e-mail or visit me in office hours to notify me of such a situation at least two weeks in advance of the event. See full details at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/observance-religious-holidays-and-absen...>

Classroom Behavior: Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. Students who fail to adhere to such behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Faculty have the professional responsibility to treat all students with understanding, dignity and respect, to guide classroom discussion and to set reasonable limits on
