Office Hours: Tues. 10:50-12:15, 3:20

This course is designed to give you an introduction to the implications of natural resources as economic concepts. It presents theories of efficient utilization of natural resources and discusses issues related to current practices of use of resources. We will study natural resources used in the economy, the value of natural resources to society, and the allocation of renewable and non-renewable resources. We also discuss issues of sustainability, conservation, and preservation. The

Exams

There will be three cumulative exams and a cumulative final. Tests will consist of short-answer questions and some longer problems. The exams will all be cumulative, and the material does build on itself so it is important to understand all of the concepts as we go. Exams will be given in class on the days listed. If you miss an exam with a valid excuse (e.g. a note from your doctor or Wardenburg), then the weight of your final will be increased. Undocumented illnesses do not count as valid excuses (as long as this is not in conflict with a University policy). Note that the exam dates below are not
