hours and be worth 150 points. Any student who has three or more final examinations scheduled on 4 May has the right to reschedule all exams following the first two. Any student wishing to invoke this right must do so by 20 March.<sup>1</sup>

Two midterm examinations will each take 40 minutes, and be worth 40 points. They will take place on 10 February and 7 April unless class progress deviates significantly from expectations. Examinations will ordinarily consist of short essay questions addressing the material in lectures and readings. They may also include short computational exercises.

Two papers complete the course requirements. Each will analyze the issues presented in a case from the Harvard Business School, based on discussions in class and the material in readings. The cases will be available at the UMC Book Store. Both papers must be type-written, double-spaced, with conventional margins. Papers that exceed the maximum lengths, either in physical length or because of compressed format, will be penalized. These papers must be submitted electronically to the email address above in the Adobe .pdf format. The computers in the computer lab in the basement of the Economics Building can create .pdf files from Word files. Make sure that you arrange to convert your papers to .pdf format before the deadline for submission. Speak with me in advance if you anticipate difficulty with this requirement. Only .pdf files will be accepted.

The first term paper is a three-page discussion of American Outsourcing, Harvard Business School Case No. 9705-037. It will be due on 24 February unless class progress deviates significantly from expectations. It will be worth 20 points. The second paper is a five-page discussion of Mexico: The Unfinished Agenda, Harvard Business School Case No. 9701-116. It will be due on 21 April unless class progress deviates significantly from expectations. It will be worth 50 points.

Excuses for the five course requirements will be granted only under extraordinary circumstances. If granted, the excused points will be reallocated to subsequent requirements. The course as a whole is valued at 300 points. The score attained by each student, evaluated relative to those of other students and to the score which would be attained by an intelligent student of economics at this level, will determine final letter grades.

The material to be mastered in this class is contained in the lectures and assigned readings. The tentative schedule of topics below also includes the list of assigned readings. All articles in the Journal of Economic Perspectives are available as .pdf files through the University Library's website. From any University computer, follow this protocol:

University policies:

The University adheres to the standards for student privacy rights and requirements as stipulated in the Federal Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974.<sup>2</sup> Campus policy regarding disabilities requires that faculty adhere to the recommendations of Disability Services. In addition, campus policy regarding religious observances requires that faculty make every effort to reasonably and fairly accommodate all students who, because of religious obligations, have conflicts with scheduled examinations, assignments or required attendance. Any student eligible for and needing academic adjustments or accommodations because of disability or religious practice should arrange to meet with me immediately. Those with disabilities should immediately submit a letter from Disability Services describing appropriate adjustments or accommodations.<sup>3</sup>

Students and faculty share responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All are subject to the University's policies on Sexual Harassment and Amorous Relationships.<sup>4</sup> Students who fail to adhere to appropriate behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Faculty have the professional responsibility to treat students with understanding, dignity and respect, to guide classroom discussion and to set reasonable limits on the manner
