make their way around campus: visiting far-off classrooms, hearing from staff in various departments and spending their mornings refreshing math and writing skills. The Veterans Summer Bridge program has been held each August since 2017. It began as a pilot program to help address the academic preparedness gap between high school and university, which many veterans experience due to their military service. In recent years, the evolution of the program from fully in-person to remote (and back) has allowed for a unique ability to compare outcomes for in-person and remote cohorts.
